Prices of Securities Will Go Up or Down, With Decree of Interstate Commerce Commission.

CHAOS MAY FOLLOW DENIAL

dation May Stampede Financial Centres-Brokers More Pessimistic as Exchange Opening Is Deferred.

BY BROADAN WALL

BY BROADAN WAL!.

NEW YORK, November 5. Wall Street bings its estimate of values on the decision of the laterstate Commerce Commission of the Interstate Commerce Commission, "IL" the Street argues, "rates ought to be advanced, securities are worth more than quote, values, Should, however, the increase be dealed, chaos and liquidation will follow."

In the old days New York was separated from the rest of the country by a wall that extended from the North to the East River. Everything beyond this was outside, and to-day the estimate of values of leading securities is gauged by the opinion of the business south of this palisade.

Regulation of dealings in stocks is apparently governed outside of the 1,100 members of the Stock Exchange. For the sake of politeness the floor is open as usual from 10 to 3 o'clock, Members congregate and discuss conditions, but are absolutely hopeless in regulating trading rules.

Those who must sell by necessity seek the public market in New Street, while customers willing to recognize the usual channels of trade are compelled to go outside if they wish to buy stocks at current prices.

Of buying orders, there are not a few, but buyers are disposed to withhold their orders until the decision is rendered by the commission on the question of freight rates.

Should the desired increase be granted, present prices of standard securities will undoubtedly be considered cheap.

TRADE CONDITIONS
IN STATE OF DOUBT TRADE CONDITIONS

IN STATE OF DOUBT

While uncertainty rules in the market for the industrials, trade conditions are in a state of doubt. Bookings for steel orders are at the minimum, and trades in the copper market are being completed on a basis that leaves no margin for the manufacturer. Manufacturers are practically gambling on an improvement in the export trade, and if this does not soon arrive there will be a curtailment of production that will have a serious effect on labor.

In Stock Exchange circles pessimism increases as a possibility of public dealings in securities is deferred. Future speculation will be curtailed by the reduced accommodations to brokers.

Three months of idle business, while expenses have steadily increased, prohibit commission houses from extending the usual accommodations to those who would venture on future prices. Every day of idleness iessens the opportunity of the brokers to encourage speculative ventures, and to this condition must be added the restricting regulations of the banks and a curtailment of speculative operations by Stock Exchange committees.

Short-term notes were easier, brokers reporting a waiting attlinde upon the part of the huyers. Prices have now riscu to the point where banks are shading quotations fractionally, in the expectation that a grant of increased rates will enhance the value of their holdings.

Outside prices in New Street were barely steady to-day, buyers holding off. The following quotations ruled:

Amalgamated Copper, 424-643; Steel, 434, 6446; Union Pacific, 1984-6195; Southern Pacific, 1846-794; Northern Pacific, 1846-794; Reading, 1926-133.

NEW YORK, November 5.—The result of the elections was reflected to the second content of the elections was reflected to the second content of the elections was reflected to the second content.

NEW YORK, November 5.—The result of the elections was reflected to-day in a broader inquiry for investment issues and general advances in the prices of listed securities being traded in outside the Stock Exchange. Another helpful factor was the announcement that the Liverpool Cotton Exchange is to reopen on a restricted basis of operations to-morrow.

Improvement in sentiment was most pronounced in the steel trade, despite the belief that the October statement of the United States Steel Corporation, to be issued next Tuesday, is likely to show another large decrease in unfilled orders. Manufacturers in other lines, including textiles, expressed a more hopeful view of the immediate future. a more hopeful view of the immediate future.

Another advance in rates in Paris was the feature of the foreign exchange market. The London market was shade easier, with additional offerings of commercial bills because of the termination of the moratorium. Exchange on Montreal-rose again.

An increase of over $38,000,000 in the gold holdings of the Bank of Fugiand was the outstanding feature of that institution's statement for the past week. Substantial gains in total and Hability reserves were also noted. The Imperial Bank of Germany added about $7,50,00 to its store of gold and increased its holdings of emergency and other bank notes by over $38,000,000.

sale at that price of contracts owned by a large firm which falled last July. This order is expected to-morrow.

Liverpool cables also reported the liquidation of 120,000 bales of January-February contracts there on Tuesday at 4.55d and offered 50,000 bales for ballot here in liquidation of straddles, but local traders have decided not to ballot below 7.51 for December, and are waiting to hear from Liver-bool on that proposition before resuming mernational liquidation.

It was feared that advancing ocean freight and war risks would expert business, but local spot brokers reported no increase in offerings of spots from the South and generally steady prices.

December contracts were quoted at 7.55 to 7.55c on the local curb.
